Laozi describes them as a duality that exists in everything. Day and night, man and woman, life and death, etc. They're two opposing sides that don't contradict each other but complement each other and depend on one another. One doesn't want to impose itself on the other. Instead, they coexist in balance with each other.

In my opinion, the duality of humans consists in a active part and a thoughtful part. According to a person life history or simply to their view, we can have a part that is more dominant. For active I intend the way we act in the real world. We do A to obtain B after, and we are set. We must have B without thinking how or why, we simply do.

Why is understanding the Duality significant? Understanding the duality of all things is important because it allows us to see from other perspectives. The more important part of understanding the duality is seeing that all perceptions are RELATIVE and therefore separate from the inherent, physical reality. There is the distinction that the mind is not the body and vice versa; we can perceive the world but we will never know it.

The Relative and the Absolute – The Nature of Duality ...
Duality is an essential concept that must be grasped if one is wanting to have a deeper understanding of life. Without recognising duality, we are missing out on one of the most profound learning tools available. Duality teaches us that every aspect of life is created from a balanced interaction of opposite and competing forces. Yet these forces are not just opposites; they are complementary.

You will never die. Your body will, but you will live forever. You may even return for another lifespan on earth. Scientific medical research has proven the reality of reincarnation. That proves that a human soul leaves a deceased body, retaining its mind, memory, free will, and emotional ability, and after a residence in an afterlife reenters a new body. The same person leaves one personality and becomes another personality in a new earthly presence. Your soul never dies. What does that mean for your understanding of your life's meaning? Find out who you really are, an eternal person and an earthly personality; why you are here, to prepare for eternity; and where you are going when you die. You should know this because it is true for all living humans regardless of religious beliefs or secular apathy. This is scientific reality, not religious belief or faith. Duality of Human Nature does exist. Science claims that you are a strictly physical being. But scientific medical research has proven that reincarnation is real, which confirms that you have a soul and a body. Find the answers in this book: Investigating Eternal Existence Through the Duality of Human Nature.

For clergy, present and prospective, as well as students of the psychology of religion.

A pioneering scholarly investigation into the intersection of personality and cultural history, this study asserts that Freudian psychology is rooted in Judaism — particularly, in the mysticism of the Kabbalah.
